Don't paint the whole landscape to the same degree of detail: paint less detail in the background of the landscape than you do in the foreground. It's less important there and gives more 'authority' to what's in the foreground. The difference in detail also helps draw the viewer's eye into the main focus of the landscape painting.

Top 7 Practical Tips for Landscape Painting

Paint the sky. In landscape painting, it is better to work from the back of the scene to the front. This helps us organize our color easier and makes it easier when dealing with overlapping objects. When painting the sky, the sky is slightly darker at the top of the sky and lighter towards the horizon. This is a result of atmospheric perspective.
